

A Servant's Prayer

Yochana the Psalmist

To You my LORD, I just want to serve
Whatever the task, never losing my nerve

For doing your work is what I yearn to do
Bringing others to righteousness, holy for you

Never caring about the negative consequences
You'll provide for me the right circumstances

I trust You know what is best
I pray for wisdom, I can bear any test

Help me to see just what You see
To concentrate on others, never about me

Give me Your heart so I can feel
How much You love them, Your passion and zeal

If they could just simply understand
Letting them perish is not Your plan

A Servant's Prayer

You have for the lost a passion to bring
Them back to You and for this I sing

Let me walk where other servants have walked
Doing acts of kindness, not just talk

For only You know and are aware
Of those who need some loving care

And so I ask You when I pray
Please place that special someone in my way

Who needs some love and encouragement
To lift them up from their discouragement

The world at times can be so rough
Shattering people's lives, beating them up

Let me show them the love You have showed me
When they look at me may it be Yeshua they see

A Servant's Prayer

Forgive me Father for not always knowing
What I should do or where I should be going

I just need to keep close and listen
You will let me know what I am missing

I look around and there are so few
Who walk in Your ways and really know You

How Your heart for them must ache
Even sacrificing Your Son for their sake

Yeshua's love knows no bounds
What love is this O so profound?

My heart breaks too and it is sore
For those who are chosen yet still ignore

For them I will sing even all the more
Getting the words out like never before

Keep me steadfast in caring for them

Doing Your will up to the end

I pray I will do the best that I can

In building your kingdom, fulfilling Your plan.

You know my thoughts, You give me my breath

I just want to please You with all I have left

May all my melodies I sing be true

In making others more aware of You

Keep me humble in all my ways

Living for You the rest of my days

AMEN
